

Cartoon clubs

Hello!

I'm Gary Boller an illustrator and cartoonist with a wealth of experience. I draw cartoons and humorous illustrations for many books and publications including the Beano and Dandy, design and advertising groups, TV production companies including Aardman Animations, Pesky and Electric Circus. I am represented in the USA and Europe by Astound US and Yeon Agency in the Far East.

I run cartoon clubs in local junior schools in East Hampshire. I like to help youngsters have more confidence in and develop their own innate drawing styles and creative thinking. There will come a time when they will want to copy others work, that's natural, but there is also a window of opportunity when they feel free to do their own thing and it's this stage that I am interested in encouraging with gentle, not too specific instruction and interesting themes to stoke their wild imaginations.

Squeezed budgets means schools have to focus resources on core areas of the curriculum. Subjects such as art and music suffer. Many schools offer after school clubs for extra support in these areas. This is an excellent way for parents to support their creative children. Without art where would we be?

I have public liability insurance and I'm DBS checked with a current certificate for West Sussex and Hampshire. Contact the school or me here - gary@garyboller.com for more information.
